This Book is Dedicated

Her stories of the pioneer life of her grandfather, John Townsend, in Chautauqua County, New York, were my inspiration to the task of collecting the material which is now presented in these pages.

"This is an age when genealogy has taken a new lease of life, and become for the first time a human science . . . . the very plot of our life's story unfolds itself on a scale of centuries, and the biography of the man is only an episode in the epic of the family."

—Robert Louis Stevenson.

ORIGIN OF THE NAME

The Townsend, or Townshend, families of England and America are of mixed Saxon and Norman origin, and of great antiquity in the county Norfolk, England.

An early form of the name was Atte Townshend, "at the town's end," adopted, no doubt, in accord with the statute set up in the time of Henry V, "which provided that not only the name of an individual should be inserted in a writ or indictment, but his estate or degree, his calling or business, and the town or district in which he resided. . . Thus, George, the smith, became George Smith, and John, of Wessyngton, became John Wessyngton." *

The first part, "Atte", seems to have been dropped during the XIVth century, and from this time down to the dawn of Puritanism as many as twelve different ways of spelling the name have been found. Thus: Townshend, Tounneyeshende, Towneshende, etc. About 1500 the name was abridged to Townsend, but about the year 1580 the chief family at Raynham, finding that this mode gave an incorrect signification to their name, as they were the land-holders, stadt-, or town-holders of that section of the country, again began to use the "h" in the last syllable, "hend" being derived from "hand," (Saxon, henden) or the Latin root, "hendere," used only in composition, meaning "to take," "to hold."

ENGLISH ANCESTRY

Walter Atte Townshende, son of Sir Lodovic de Townshende, a Norman nobleman whom Collins in his Peerage of England puts at the head of this family, flourished soon after the Conquest. This Lodovic, it seems, married Elizabeth de Hauteville, sole heir of Raynham, daughter of Sir Thomas de Hauteville, of the famous family of de Hauteville or Havile, which family at this time appears to have been a most important one. They were of Norman extraction, and settling in the county of Norfolk, became possessed of a considerable property, said to have been granted them by William the Conqueror, and which, by marriage, came to the Townsend family.

(1) Roger de Townshende by wife Catherine, daughter of John Atherton of the county Sussex, was father of (2) Sir Thomas de Townshend whose wife was Agnes, daughter of William Payne, gentleman. (3) His son and heir, Roger, was wedded to Eleanor, daughter of Sir Thomas Griggs of Rollesby in county Norfolk, and had issue, (4) John Townsend, son and heir, who married Joan, daughter and heir of Sir Robert Lunsford of Rumford in county Essex, whose will is dated Feb. 16, 1465. By the said Joan Lunsford this John Townsend had one son, Roger, and four daughters.

(5) Roger Townsend, Esq., was a prominent lawyer, and a Justice of the Common Pleas. He was knighted by King Henry VII. Sir Roger dates his will Aug. 14, 1492. His son, (6) Roger, was also bred to the law. He held many high offices, and was knighted by Henry VIII. He married Anne, a daughter of Sir William de Brewse, of an ancient family. (7) Robert, second son of Sir Roger, married Alice, daughter of Robert Poppy, Esq., of county Norfolk. He attained a high place in the service of the King, and died at Salop, Feb. 8, 1556.

(8) Thomas Townsend. eldest son of Sir Robert, married at Beckenham, county Kent, June 27, 1558, the Lady Elizabeth Styles, daughter of George Periente, widow of Sir Humphrey Styles. On August 16, 1578, he entertained Queen Elizabeth at Bracon-Ash Hall where she dined while on her progress through Norfolk to Norwich. His wife was buried June 30, 1580. (9) His son, Henry Townsend, baptized May 15, 1568, at Bracon-Ash, married Margaret, daughter of Robert Forthe, Nov. 5, 1590. She was buried at Bracon-Ash, June 23, 1596. This Henry Townsend was buried at Gedding, in the county Suffolk, Aug. 22, 1625.

THE FAMILY IN AMERICA

THOMAS TOWNSEND, third son of Henry Townsend and Margaret Forthe, was born at Bracon-Ash (baptized Jan. 8, 1594-5). Tradition and family records inform us that he came from London, and settled at Lynn, in the colony of Massachusetts Bay, about 1635. As John Winthrop, a relative, was governor of this colony, it is probable that his Puritan inclination caused him to select a home in New England where many of his kinsmen and neighbors had emigrated a few years before.

From his serving the public on more than one occasion Thomas Townsend seems to have been an important citizen, and from papers bearing his name, and his beautiful autograph, now to be seen in the Secretary of State's office in Boston, we have sufficient evidence of his ability. He was made freeman March 14, 1639, died Dec. 22, 1677.

His wife was Mary, probably a sister of John Newgate, or Newdigate, a merchant of Boston. She died Feb. 28, 1692.

Their children:

Thomas, born about 1637, m. Mary Davis, daughter of Samuel Davis, of Boston.

SAMUEL, born about 1638, m. Abigail Davis, sister of Mary.

John, born about 1640.
Andrew, born about 1642.
Elizabeth, born about 1644, m. Samuel Mansfield, of Lynn, Dec. 22, 1669.

SAMUEL TOWNSEND settled at Rumney Marsh, or Chelsea, Mass., (now Revere), where he held several important offices. He leased one of Gov. Bellingham's farms, which continued in his family for more than fifty years. He also owned property in Boston (North end), and in Charlestown. He lived and died in Chelsea, a gravestone in the old burying ground bearing date, Dec. 21, 1704. His wife, Abigail, died Jan. 2, 1728, aged 87.

Their children:

Samuel, born July 12, 1661; m. 1st. Elizabeth Barlow, April 15, 1693; 2nd. Elizabeth Mellens, April 7, 1701. He lived in Charlestown. For an account of his descendants see Wyman's Charlestown Genealogies and Estates. He died Nov. 18, 1723 at 61.
Abigail, born Sept. 3, 1662.
Jeremiah, born 1664, died Sept. 6, 1690.
David, born Sept. 29, 1665.
JONATHAN, b. Sept. 10 1668, m. Elizabeth Walton Mar. 22, 1695.
Anne, b. Jan. 30, 1672, m. Abraham Cole. Died Nov. 1717.
Solomon, b. Aug. 1, 1676, m. 1st., Elizabeth Jarvis, June 20, 1698; 2nd., Esther Sugars, daughter of Capt. Gregory Sugars, of Boston, April 15, 1714.

Elias, b. Mar. 2, 1678, m. Rebecca Frothingham.
Abraham, b. May 20, 1682, m. Mary Eustice, Nov. 30, 1708.
Isaac, (twin brother of Abraham) m. Anne Ranger, July 6, 1703. He died, 1718.

(This record is taken from "The Townsend Family," by Henry F. Waters. The record in the New England Genealogical Register, Vol. 29, p. 98, differs somewhat.)

JONATHAN TOWNSEND, son of Samuel, was born at Rumney Marsh, Sept. 10, 1668; died April 11, 1717-8. Married, March 22, 1695, Elizabeth Walton, daughter of Samuel, * who was the son of Rev. William Walton, of Marblehead, a Puritan minister of prominence. She died March 30, 1749, aged 83.

Their children:

JONATHAN, b. Jan. 1, 1697, m. Mary Sugars, died Sept. 30, 1762.
David, b. June 25, 1699, m. Mary Hutchinson, of Lynn. (Pub. Nov. 1, 1724), d. July 31, 1774.
Elizabeth, born Dec. 27, 1703.

* Samuel Walton married Sarah Maverick, who was the daughter of Elias and Anna (Harris) Maverick. In 1654 Elias Maverick was a member of The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company He was the son of Rev. John Maverick, one of the original settlers of Dorchester, Mass., who came from England in the "Mary and John," arriving in New England May 30, 1630. He was minister at Dorchester until his death, Feb. 3, 1635-6. (New England Genealogical Reg. Vol. 69, p. 155. Cf. New Eng. Gen. Reg. Vol. 29, p. 66, also Marblehead Vital Rec. Vol. 1, page 539.)

REV. JONATHAN TOWNSEND, son of Jonathan, born in Boston, Jan. 1, 1697. He entered Harvard University at the age of 14, graduating in 1716, when he received the degree, A. M. March 23, 1719, he was ordained pastor of the First Church at Needham, Mass.,* and continued his ministry until his death, Sept. 30, 1762. There is in existence a fragment of a sermon of the Rev. Jonathan Townsend in which he says he much deplores the tendency of the times. The young people have become so irreligious and show so little respect for their elders, that he trembles for the future. †

He was married May 26, 1720, to Mary, a daughter of Captain Gregory Sugars, a prominent citizen of Boston, who had commanded a squadron of thirteen sail in the expedition against Quebec in 1690. She was born in Boston March 17, 1691; died at Needham Sept. 6, 1765.

* The First Church at Needham set up a curiously carved and paneled oak pulpit imported from England. (History of Lynn, (Mass,) (Newhall) p. 310.)

† In his "Century Sermon," Rev. Stephen Palmer says of Rev. Townsend: "Possessing strong powers of mind, cultivated and improved by education and study, he was enabled to think deeply and correctly .... In the main he was happy with his people, sharing much in their affection and esteem." (History of Norfolk Co. (Mass.) p. 523.)

Their children, all born in Needham:

Jonathan, b. Oct. 18, 1721. (Harvard 1741.) Minister at Medfield.

Mary, b. Jan. 7, 1724, m. Nathaniel Mann, Feb. 9, 1748-9.

‖ At the time of her marriage, Captain Sugars built for his daughter and her husband a "Colonial Mansion" at the junction of Central Avenue and Nehoiden Street in Needham, Mass. Here their children were born, and Reverend Townsend and his wife died. The house was occupied by his heirs until 1769, when it was sold by them to Rev. Samuel West, his successor in the ministry. A complete description of the house, which was one of the finest in the locality, will be found in the Dedham Historical Register, Vol. 1, page 81. This article was written in 1890, by Geo. THE SILL LINE

JOHN SILL came from Lyme, England, to Cambridge, Mass., about 1637, with his wife, Joanna, and his two children.

CAPTAIN JOSEPH SILL, son of John, born 1636, married, (first) about 1664, Joanna Belcher, married, (second) Feb. 12, 1677, Mrs. Sarah Clarke Marvin, born 1641, widow of Reynold Marvin, and daughter of George Clarke, of Milford, Conn. Joseph Sill resided in Cambridge, Mass., until 1675, when he removed to Lyme, Conn. He was a captain in the French and Indian Wars. He died August 6, 1696.

JOSEPH SILL, JR., son of Captain Joseph and Sarah (Marvin) Sill, was born Jan. 6, 1678, in Lyme, Conn., married, 1706, Phebe Lord, daughter of Lieutenant Richard Lord. She was born about 1685, and died Jan. 4, 1772.

JOSEPH SILL, son of Joseph, Jr., was born April 25, 1715, married, (first) Dec. 1747, Ruth Matson, daughter of Nathaniel. She was born about 1717, died Aug. 12, 1762. He married, (second) Azubah Lee. He died Jan. 20, 1782.

GILES SILL, eldest son of Joseph and Ruth (Matson) Sill, was born Nov. 21, 1748, married 1773, Lucy Gould, daughter of James and Elizabeth (Chappel)

Gould, of Lyme. She was born Aug. 6, 1753, died Dec. 18, 1836. In 1804 Giles Sill removed to Moreau, N. Y., where he purchased a farm, sawmill, and grist-mill. He died, December, 1839.

GURDON GOULD SILL, son of Giles, was born Feb. 9, 1780, at Lyme, died Feb. 24, 1853. He married, Sept. 12, 1805, Electa Hawley, daughter of Amos Hawley, a Revolutionary soldier. She was born, 1787, died May 6, 1856.

WALTER GOULD SILL, son of Gurdon Gould, was born Mar. 1, 1810, died Feb. 8, 1881. He married, July 13, 1837, Eveline Hamilton, daughter of William and Elizabeth (Thomas) Hamilton. She was born Dec. 10, 1813, died July 2, 1864.

GURDON GILES SILL, son of Walter Gould, was born Feb. 8, 1847, married, July 10, 1878, Emma Adelia Bennett, the daughter of Henry Clay and Sarah (Townsend) Bennett. See page 18.
